WHAT IS HEALTHY LIFE STYLE EXACTLY?

These five areas were chosen because prior studies have shown them to have large impact on risk of premature death. How are these healthy habits defined and measured.:

1. Healthy diet, which was calculated and rated based on the reported intake of healthy foods like vegetables, fruits, nuts, whole grains, sugar sweetened beverages, trans fat and sodium.
2. Healthy physical activity level, which was measured at least 30 minutes per day of moderate to vigorous activity daily.
3. Healthy body weight, defined as a normal body mass index (BMI) which is between 18.5 and 24.9
4. Smoking well, there is no healthy amount of smoking "Healthy" here meant never having smoked.

WHAT IS PERSONAL HYGIENE?

Good personal hygiene is about keeping your body clean. It also helps to protect you from getting infections such as gastroenteritis, colds, flu and COVID-19.

Washing your hand with soap removes germs that can make you ill. Having good personal hygiene will also help prevent you from spreading diseases to other people.

Personal hygiene includes:

- Cleaning your body every day
- Washing your hands with soap with water after going to toilet
- Brushing and flossing your teeth twice a day
- Covering your mouth and nose with a tissue when sneezing or coughing
- Washing your hands after handling pets and other animals.

WHY IS PERSONAL HYGIENE IMPORTANT?

Good personal hygiene is vital because it helps stop you from getting sick. It also helps stop you from spreading germs and infection diseases.

WHAT IS SELF MANAGEMENT SKILLS?

Developing self-management skills requires a certain level of self-awareness—you need to know yourself before you can regulate yourself. Start slow and embrace the process, remembering that these skills are ongoing.

TYPES OF SELF MANAGEMENT SKILLS.

Time Management:Time management is when you control how you use your time. This means prioritizing your most important tasks first and managing your daily to-do list. A leader who has good time management skills can manage their time effectively without the need for external help.

Having good time management skills can help you stay engaged and avoid procrastination. As a leader, time management allows you enough time to both stay on top of your own work and empower others to do the same.

Self Motivation:Self motivation is your ability to get motivated and proactively accomplish daily tasks. It takes a certain level of personal responsibility, but practicing selfmotivation can help you become more self-aware and prioritize.

Stress Management:Leaders often deal with stress, but to be good at self-management you need to embody healthy stress management. Without stress management, you can suffer from overwork and, eventually, burnout. Leaders with good stress management skills approach work in a focused manner by connecting their initiatives to larger goals

Adaptability:Being adaptable means you have the confidence and ability to pivot when changes arise. This is especially important for leaders who work in a fast-paced environment where project changes occur often.

Decision making:To be effective, it's essential for leaders to develop decision-making skills that reduce confusion and increase team empowerment. Problem solving and addressing issues can help you grow your decision-making skills. Like all the skills we've looked at so far, decision making is something you can learn. Start by sharpening your critical thinking skills and learning how to analyze key information when problems arise.

Goal alignment:Setting goals means you prioritize the most important projects that have the highest impact on your business. This means being able to see the bigger picture and knowing what's best for your team members and organization. In the long run, this will generate better results and boost team morale.

Personal development:Personal development is key for all team members, but especially for leaders. In order to build your team's knowledge, you first need to build your own. This means taking the time to attend workshops, take courses, and connect with industry experts to develop your management skills.
