Creating Awareness on COVID-19 Vaccination is the Need of the Hour

PRIST NSS Cell is using social media to spread the word about the COVID-19 vaccine. Here, raising awareness in and around Thanjavur about the significance of the current situation has turned into a pressing need for testing. The first and second waves of the Corona virus pandemic caused a sharp decline in global mortality rates and presented an unparalleled challenge to the food, public health, and workplace sectors. The COVID-19 epidemic has had a terrible effect on socioeconomic instability. The COVID-19 epidemic has been affecting the food system as a whole, exposing its vulnerabilities. Trade restrictions, border closures, and restraint measures have made it more difficult for farmers to access markets, which means they can't sell their produce or buy inputs. They have also made it harder for agricultural workers to harvest crops, disrupting both the domestic and global food supply chains and making it harder for people to follow distinct, healthy diets. The COVID-19 pandemic has destroyed employment and jeopardised the livelihoods of millions of people. Millions of men and women's food security and nutrition are at risk due to the loss of jobs, illnesses, and deaths of family leaders and financial supporters. Those living in developing and economically backward nations, particularly the most marginalised groups, such as small-scale farmers and indigenous people, are most affected.

HEALTH AWARENESS PROGRAMME FOR SCHOOL STUDENTS AT BUDHALUR (2022)

The WHO has designated the Corona virus illness (COVID-19) to be a pandemic. Our university's 125 NSS volunteers and NSS Program Officers were informed and made aware of this crucial disease. A program of awareness was held on March 9, 2022. Risk factors, high-risk locations, symptoms, signs, diagnosis, treatment, consequences, and—above all—the preventative measures and safety precautions that should be followed were all made known. Myths propagated on social media were debunked as well. They were informed about the significance of mask use, the individuals at high risk who must wear masks, and the fact that not everyone must wear a mask. They were also informed that the best way to contain such a pandemic is to be aware of the issue, assume responsibility for educating peers and other family members about it, and contact hospitals and healthcare providers if they have any suspicions. Panicking will not help in any way. The significance of hand cleanliness was also covered. The event ran until about 3:45 pm, after which there was a Q&A period for student volunteers, instructors, and POs to clear up any misunderstandings. With great enthusiasm, the children took part in the conversation and offered questions that were addressed.

SWACHTA PAKHWADA ACTIVITIES

On August 7, 2022, NSS held Swachh Bharat events on the university campus. Students and faculty members pledged to remain clean on the first day of the Swachh Bharat Fortnight. To raise awareness about maintaining a clean and green campus, a signature campaign was also planned. Following the first event, a lecture titled "Awareness on Green Environment" was held. Over one hundred students and volunteers participated in a range of activities, such as tidying the areas around the administration building, department buildings, dormitory buildings, and library building. In addition, students assisted in planting saplings on the academic and residential campuses and removing mesquite trees from the university site. Students participated in awareness campaigns and competitions to learn how to properly dispose of rubbish and make visible changes in their environment.

The NSS volunteers convened to tidy the grounds surrounding each college building. With great enthusiasm, NSS volunteers gathered dried leaves, weeds, tea cups, and plastic debris that was scattered over the neighbourhood. To the location where the university had made arrangements for the collection of collected wastes, the volunteers collected all the garbage and trash bags. The NSS team members found the entire cleaning campaign to be really inspirational and motivational. Garbage Collection from the University Campus. Removal of mesquite trees from university campuses: There has long been worry over mesquite tree invasions on university campuses. By suckling groundwater, its invasion diminishes herbaceous supplies and dries off the soil. Mesquite was vigorously removed from the university campus by our NSS volunteers.

HEALTH AND HYGIENE AWARENESS PROGRAMME

(HEALTH CAMP FOR WOMEN)

On October 7, 2021, a health awareness program was held at our university. Prominent and well-known physicians from our community were asked to participate in this session. Dr. Malarvizhi, a well-known nutritionist in the area, was chosen to serve as the camp president. Every doctor stressed how important personal cleanliness and health are. The students were urged by the physicians to maintain hygiene and to have a healthy, well-balanced diet. In order to prevent infections like malaria, dengue, and intestinal illnesses, the majority of doctors emphasised the need for sleeping under mosquito nets at night and drinking boiling water. Students were warned not to be seduced by chopped fruit, coloured drinks, quick meals, or cold beverages. The experts also stressed the need for engaging in regular physical activity. Frequent exercise strengthens and maintains the health of the body. The guest physicians also emphasised the need for maintaining personal hygiene, including washing and cleaning one's hands. It was said that pupils should abstain from all forms of harmful products. There are twenty volunteers and fifty housekeeping staff participating in this initiative.

In collaboration with the Ministry of Women and Child Development and the District Social Welfare Office, PRIST University's NSS Cell organised a program to educate college students about the right to a high-quality life that is guaranteed to all Indian people. In order for women to live in peace and harmony within Indian society, Bharatiya Stree Shakti works to empower women and promote gender equality. The notorious "Nirbhaya" case caused a great deal of indignation and was strongly denounced both in India and elsewhere. The Indian government's Ministry of Women and Child Development (MWCD) looked at the effects of amended laws and policies. The goal of the research project "Tackling Violence Against Women: A Study of State Intervention Measures" was to compare the national situation linked to violence against women and to record changes in the registration of incidents of violence against women after policy level adjustments. the information provided by the district social welfare officer, Mrs. M. ## SCHOOL RENOVATION WORK

The elementary school Kuruvadipatti Primary School serves grades 1 through 5. The school has a pre-primary department as well. About 300 students are enrolled in total. As of right now, there are eight teachers. The distance between Vallam town and the school in Thanjavur is around 5 km.

Evaluation of the needs for infrastructure:

Two classrooms were lacking for the primary (elementary) courses of grades 1 through 5, as there were only three usable classrooms for them. To make the three run-down classrooms in the block more conducive to learning, some work needed to be done. The iron and asbestos roof had holes in it, which clearly let water seep through during the rainy season. The walls were not plastered and appeared to have cracks in them. There was no covering on the windows. There were large potholes and/or dust on the floor. Additionally, there weren't many student desks. Therefore, it was necessary to build two new classrooms and rehabilitate the three old, outdated classrooms in the block. The numerous tasks were completed by our PRIST NSS Cell.

WORLD ENVIRONMENTAL DAY -TREE PLANTATION(2022-23)

On March 31, 2022, PRIST University successfully completed the tree-planting event as part of the National Service Scheme on campus. Trees, which produce the majority of the oxygen in the atmosphere, also help to lower CO2 levels. As is well known, one of the most important things that can be done to address the global warming crisis that the entire world is now facing is planting trees. The honourable Dean, Dr. L. Chinappa, was the guest of honour, kicking off the event. In order for society to advance and undergo constructive transformation, the dean counselled volunteers to adopt a new way of thinking. The guest was congratulated after the NSS volunteers sang an NSS song."All human beings are of equal importance in society, regardless of gender," he declared. Additionally, he stated that everyone must be dedicated in order to achieve their life's ambitions. On that day, 100 volunteers, including instructors, planted a total of 100 trees. After the tree-planting ceremony was over, everyone was pleased and proud because it feels wonderful to make a positive impact on the environment.
